On February 7, Sixth Ward 21st CCLC hosted Culinary Kids. It was a fun, entertaining evening of science, math, kitchen and food safety, and eating habits. First the students chopped celery while hearing about how food changes taste as it's cooked. The celery was added to the pot with other seasonings. Everyone had a turn chopping ground meat with a special chopping tool. This meat mixture was served with pasta for a delicious beef stroganoff dish. For dessert, brownies made with black beans. Amazing! After the meal, everyone played in corn starch mixed with water. Is it liquid? Is it solid? Everyone had a wonderful time!

The ESL students in the English Club at the Covington 21st CCLC site have been working hard! They just recently finished a learning unit on the African Elephant, Blue Whale and Komodo dragon. During our study of the Komodo dragon, the students paired up to write what they learned. Partners were able to type their writing on one of our HP notebooks. All of the writing from each pair was then put together and edited. The final product is a beautiful book the students are currently illustrating.

Lacombe's 21st Century Learning Center would like to welcome Mr. Austin Davis to the staff! The participants have been enjoying his keyboarding lessons. Though they are only in the beginning stages of learning to play the keyboards, they are already sounding great! Mr. Davis will also be practicing African drumming with the students.
